

2023-2024 California College Promise Grant Income Standards

Fall 2023, Winter 2024, Spring 2024, Summer 2024

Application Deadline: Last Day of Summer 2024

| Number in Family Household | Total 2020 Family Income |
|-------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 Family Member | $19,320 |
| 2 Family Members | $26,130 |
| 3 Family Members | $32,940 |
| 4 Family Members | $39,750 |
| 5 Family Members | $46,550 |
| 6 Family Members | $53,370 |
| 7 Family Members | $60,180 |
| 8 Family Members | $66,990 |
| Each Additional Family Member | $6,810 |

Once the college receives the FAFSA results, to determine CCPG-C eligibility, the financial aid office subtracts the student's Expected Family Contribution (EFC) from their cost of attendance. If what remains ('financial need') is $1,104 or greater, the student is given a fee waiver. Waivers are posted onto the registration computer system automatically once results are received from the federal processor. The waiver will automatically appear on the system if you are eligible. When you register using the Campus Solutions system you will not be assessed the $46/unit enrollment fees.

3. CCPG C (Method C) If you do not qualify for a CCPG under Method A or Method B, you need to file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid \(FAFSA\) to apply for a CCPG. Many students who don't meet the strict income criteria of Method B still become eligible for a CCPG by filing a FAFSA.