

Code of Conduct

How to seriously earn the distrust and ire of your instructor and class mates.
(This is just a small list of all of the possible things that one can do. Please feel free to add to this list and hand in later.)

1. Cheat.
2. Cheat and later, argue about the cheating with the instructor
3. Repeatedly come to class late or not come at all.
4. Talk excessively during lecture or obstruct the teaching process in any way.
5. Sleep.
6. Leave early.
7. Take long breaks in lab.
8. Copy labs.
9. Talk back, chronically complain and/or behave disrespectfully to teachers and classmates.
10. Turn in substandard, illegible work.
11. Threaten or try to intimidate your teacher or other students.
12. Expect full credit for work that has been turned in LATE.
13. Be disruptive in class.
14. Be disruptive in lab
15. Exhibit dangerous conduct such as fight in class
16. Come to class in an intoxicated or drugged state
17. Disorderly conduct such as lewd, indecent or obscene behavior
18. Bring animals to class
19. Add the class late and expect to be excused for work missed
20. Steal work from other students work folder or the homework box.
21. Steal tests and expect credit for the work

Repeat violators will be requested to drop the class and/or have a student-teacher meeting with the Dean of Instruction. Be forewarned. Students do not like their education interrupted by inappropriate behavior any more than I do. Last semester, students went to the dean to complain about a student and that student was expelled.
